Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from A Pocket Manual of the Lancasterian System of Education, in Its Most Improved State: As Practised in the Model School, First School District, Pennsylvania The Lancasterian or Monitorial System of instruction, has formed a new era in elementary education. Its decided superiority over every other mode, has been so well tested by experience, and so thoroughly evidenced by its success, that it requires neither argument nor illustration to defend it. Its economy alone sufficiently recommends it for immediate adoption, in every district where the population is dense. The simple fact, that 300 children, under the superintendance of a competent teacher, may be rapidly and efficiently instructed, in all the elementary branches of an English education, for a sum less than $2,50, each child, per annum, is of itself conclusive. How important is this system, then, as the means of the performance of a great public duty! a duty incumbent on every intelligent citizen, the diffusion of moral and intellectual light among all classes of the community. The following view of the Lancasterian System, of Education, prepared by the writer, is now principally published for the use of the Monitors and Tutors in the Model School, and for persons wishing to become acquainted with the system, who will find it an important auxiliary in acquiring a knowledge of the manner of conducting the business of a large school.
